

The Sonoma County Coroner's Office reported more fire-related deaths, bringing the fatality totals to 13 in the county and 29 for all the fires.

This evening, the Napa County Sheriff's Office is telling residents in some parts of Napa to prepare to evacuate, although no mandatory order has been issued. These areas have been warned: east of Silverado Trail between Trancas Street and Soscol Avenue, east of Soscol Avenue between Silverado Trail and West Imola Avenue, east of Highway 221 between West Imola Avenue and Highway 29, east of Highway 29 between Highway 221 and Jameson Canyon Road, and north of Jameson Canyon Road between Highway 12 and the Napa-Solano County line.

1 in 4 flights are being delayed at SFO airport and another 80 were cancelled due to smoke today

Ash is now falling as far south as Monterey County, over 100 miles from the fire zone.