

NEW PACIFICA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CEO

The Pacifica Chamber of Commerce has a new Chief Executive Officer. JAMIE MONOZON, currently San Bruno Chamber of Commerce CEO, will split her time equally between the two chambers, serving both communities and collaborating at times. She will partner and share responsibilities with current Board President VICTOR SPANO.

Following the resignation announcement by Vickie Flores, the chamber board received a large number of resumes, several from seasoned CEOs in high tech and other industries. The chamber board hoped to find an applicant knowledgeable about chamber operations and who could fit in well with the business community.

Monozon has served as San Bruno Chamber CEO for the past five years. She has more than 25 years of business leadership experience, including owning her own business and serving as an executive for multiple Fortune 500 companies in the title and escrow industry in San Mateo County. She is a close friend and peer of former Pacifica Chamber CEO Courtney Conlon, and they attended many local, state, and national chamber events and symposiums together.

Spano has been on the chamber board for the past three years. His term as board president began in January 2017. Spano says, “The shoes of Vickie Flores and Courtney Conlon are hard to fill....we are moving forward to ensure the continuity and success of the Pacifica chamber, and Jamie is going to be an awesome leader who will bring new ideas that will help the entire community. She wants to include Pacifica’s chamber in some of her San Bruno events, and that is going to be a boon to our Pacifica chamber membership.”
